(f) State each and every instance of description of the invention of the patent in suit in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for the patent in suit which renders the patent in suit invalid, void, or unenforceable under 35 U.S.C. § 102(e) and identify each patent or application for patent known to defendant relating to each such instance.

(g) State each and every alleged act, fact, or occurrence known to defendant which supports the position that the inventor named in the patent in suit did not himself invent the subject matter sought to be patented or patented therein or which renders the patent in suit invalid, void, or unenforceable under 35 U.S.C. § 101(f) and, separately as to each alleged act, fact, or occurrence, identify all persons known to defendant who were witnesses to such alleged act, fact, or occurrence and all documents known to defendant relating to the occurrence or nonoccurrence of such alleged act, fact, or occurrence.

§ 103; as to each such item, fact, act, or occurrence state which paragraph, if any, of 35 U.S.C. § 102 renders it a part of the "prior art" as that term is used in 35 U.S.C. § 103 and supply the information requested in the corresponding one(s) of paragraphs (b)-(h) of this interrogatory as to that item, fact, act, or occurrence; state what defendant contends is the art to which the subject matter sought to be patented or patented in the patent in suit pertains for the purposes of 35 U.S.C. § 103; state what defendant contends was the level of skill of a person having ordinary skill in the art to which the subject matter sought to be patented or patented in the patent in suit pertains at the time the invention of the patent in suit was made by the inventor named in the patent in suit and at the time the application for the patent in suit was filed; state what defendant contends was the difference(s) between the prior art and the subject matter sought to be patented or patented by the patent in suit; state each and every fact, act, occurrence, item, reason, or belief which defendant contends supports the position that the difference(s) between the subject matter sought to be patented or patented in the patent in suit as a whole would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains at the time the invention of the patent in suit was made by the inventor named in the patent in suit and at the time the application for the patent in suit was filed.

4. Does defendant contend that the patent in suit is invalid, void, or unenforceable for any reason under 35 U.S.C. § 112? If so:

(a) If defendant contends that the specification of the patent in suit does not contain a written description of the invention thereof, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same, state in detail each and every deficiency in the written description of the invention and each and every item or element which was omitted from the written description of the invention and state in detail every ground reason, or basis to support the position such deficiencies or omitted items or elements, taken singularly or in combination, would prevent any person skilled in the art to which the invention of the patent in suit pertains, or to which it is most nearly connected, from making and using the same.

(b) If defendant contends that the specification of the patent in suit does not set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor named in the patent in suit of carrying out the invention of the patent in suit, identify each mode of carrying out the invention of the patent in suit which was contemplated by the inventor named in the patent in suit as better than the mode or modes set forth in the specification of the patent in suit.

(c) If defendant contends that the specification of the patent in suit fails to conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out or distinctly claiming the subject matter which the inventor named in the patent in suit regarded as his invention, state in detail each and every ground, reason or basis to support the position the claims of the patent in suit fail to particularly point out or distinctly claim the subject matter which the inventor regarded as his invention.

5. Does defendant contend that the patent in suit is invalid, void, or unenforceable for any reason under 35 U.S.C. §§ 251 or 252? If so, state in detail each and every reason, ground, or basis to support defendant's contention that the patent in suit is invalid, void, or unenforceable under 35 U.S.C. §§ 251 or 252; state in detail each alleged act, fact, or occurrence known to defendant which supports each such reason, ground, or basis; and, separately as to each act, fact, or occurrence, identify all persons known to defendant who were witnesses to such alleged act, fact, or occurrence and all documents known to defendant relating to the occurrence or nonoccurrence of such alleged act, fact, or occurrence.

6. Does defendant contend that the patent in suit is invalid, void, or unenforceable or was unenforceable at any time while defendant was making, using or selling video games for any reason other than those stated in defendant's responses to interrogatories 2 through 5? If so, state in detail each and every other reason, ground, or basis to support defendant's other contentions that the patent in suit is or was invalid, void, or unenforceable; state in detail each alleged act, fact, or occurrence known to defendant which supports each such reason, ground, or basis; and, separately as to each alleged act, fact, or occurrence, identify all persons known to defendant who were witnesses to such alleged act, fact, or occurrence and all documents known to defendant relating to the occurrence or nonoccurrence of such alleged act, fact, or occurrence.

7. (a) Does defendant contend that any of the video game models or types identified in the response to paragraph (a) of interrogatory 2 does not come within the terms of one or more claims of the patent in suit? If so, as to each and every video game model or type identified in defendant's response to interrogatory 2 which defendant contends does not come within the terms of one or more claims of the patent in suit, state in detail each and every reason, ground, or basis to support defendant's contention that that video game model or type does not come within the terms of each of claims 25, 26, 28, 29, 31, 32, 44, 45, 51, 52, 54, 55, 57, 60, 61, 62, 63, and 64 of the patent in suit.

(b) Does defendant contend that plaintiffs are estopped from asserting that any one of claims 25, 26, 28, 29, 31, 32, 44, 45, 51, 52, 54, 55, 57, 60, 61, 62, 63, or 64 is infringed by the manufacture, use and/or sale by defendant of any one or more of the video game models or types identified in defendant's response to interrogatory 2? If so, as to each such claim and as to each video game as to which defendant contends plaintiffs are estopped, specifically identify each limitation, interpretation, admission, representation, proceedings, amendments, arguments, presentation, or other item which defendant alleges resulted in said estoppel; state with specific reference to paper, page number, and line number, if any, in the file history of the application or applications for the patent in suit where said limitation, interpretation, admission, representation, proceedings, amendments, arguments, presentation, or other item occurred; and state every reason, basis, or ground upon which defendant alleges each such limitation, interpretation, admission, representation, proceedings, amendments, arguments, presentation, or other item resulted in such estoppel.

8. What does defendant contend is "a reasonable royalty" as that term is used in 35 U.S.C. § 284 for the use of the invention of the patent in suit by defendant if the Court should find that defendant has infringed the patent in suit? State each and every act, fact, occurrence, reason, ground, or basis which defendant will rely upon to support such contention.

9. (a) Identify each person whom defendant expects to call as an expert witness at the trial in this civil action.

(b) As to each expert witness identified in defendant's response to paragraph (a) of this interrogatory, state the subject matter or subjects matter on which he is expected to testify.

(d) As to each expert witness identified in defendant's response to paragraph (a) of this interrogatory, summarize the grounds for each opinion set forth in defendant's response to paragraph (c) of this interrogatory; and

(e) Identify each person whom defendant has retained or specially employed in anticipation of this civil action and/or in preparation for trial in this civil action.

10. Has defendant given or received any indemnity agreements relating to or including claims or charges of patent infringement of the patent in suit? If so, and separately as to each such indemnity agreement, identify the parties other than defendant to that agreement; state the date such indemnity agreement was entered into and the dates, if any, such indemnity agreement was terminated or modified; state the full and complete terms of such indemnity agreement and any modifications thereto.

11. With respect to plaintiffs acquisition of knowledge of the patents in suit:

(a) State the date when defendant first gained knowledge or was advised or received notice of that patent or of the application which resulted in that patent;

(b) State the date when defendant first gained knowledge or was advised or received notice that plaintiffs individually or collectively were asserting any exclusive or patent rights in the industry or trade related to video games;

(c) State in detail the manner in which defendant gained or received the knowledge, advice or notice specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this interrogatory and identify the person or persons, firm or firms, corporation or corporations and the like from whom such knowledge, advice or notice was gained or received;

(e) State whether defendant or an officer, director, or managing agent of defendant has ever formed an opinion as to whether the claims of the patent in suit were valid and/or enforceable against defendant and/or whether the manufacture, use, and/or sale by defendant of any of the video game models or types identified in defendant's response to paragraph (a) of interrogatory 2 hereof constituted infringement of said patent;

(f) If defendant's response to paragraph (e) of this interrogatory is in the affirmative, state the date or dates upon which defendant or any of its officers, directors, or managing agents arrived at each such opinion or opinions as to whether the claims of the patent in suit were valid and/or enforceable against defendant and/or whether the manufacture, use, and/or sale by defendant of any of the video game models or types identified in defendant's response to paragraph (a) of interrogatory 2 hereof constituted an infringement of said patent; state each such opinion or opinions; identify each officer, director, managing agent, or other personnel of defendant who formed and held that opinion or opinions; identify every document containing or reporting that opinion or opinions; and identify each and every alleged fact, act, or occurrence and each and every document considered in arriving at that opinion or opinions.

12. With respect to any ownership interest in or license of defendant under any patents relating to the patent in suit:

(a) Identify each and every patent or patent application of the United States or any other country owned in whole or in part by defendant or which resulted from or covers development work done by or on behalf of or for defendant and which discloses or claims video games or subject matter related to or useful with video games or which defendant claims discloses or claims subject matter used in any one or more of defendant's video games identified in defendant's response to paragraph (a) of interrogatory 2 hereof.

(b) Identify each and every patent or patent application of the United States or any other country which discloses or claims video games or subject matter related to or useful with video games or used in any one or more of defendant's video games identified in defendant's response to paragraph (a) of interrogatory 2 hereof under which defendant is or ever has been licensed and as to each such patent or patent application, identify the party that granted defendant a license thereunder, state the date upon which defendant's license thereunder became effective, state the date (if any) upon which defendant's license thereunder terminated, state whether defendant's license thereunder was
